

Celine McInerney
Partner
Norman Waterhouse

Academic Heartlands or Commercial Operators?

Biography

Celine McInerney is one of the commercial partners at Norman Waterhouse and works in strategic risk and asset management.

With extensive experience in transactional and strategic assistance to clients in the public and private sector, Celine is closely associated with research and teaching institutions, media and entertainment companies, local government, communications specialists, technology companies and start-ups.

With this diverse client base she is involved in large outsourcing agreements, service level agreements, intellectual property audits, IP portfolio management, e-commerce and information security and regulation, privacy and corporate knowledge management. Celine's expertise in IP spans copyright, trademarks, confidential information and trade secrets, patents, designs, indigenous heritage rights and employee and consultancy contracts.